India-Pakistan Conflict Brought Out In Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson restated today strong American support for United Nations efforts to end the India-Pakistan conflict. In an address prepared for judges and lawyers from 100 countries attending the Washington World Conference on World Peace Through Law, Johnson said:

India Will Listen To Peace Quest

Pakistan Accused Of Political Play In Asking For Help

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India said today it will listen to peace appeals from President Johnson and accused Pakistan of playing politics in asking Washington to end the war on the subcontinent.

"We have already made a positive response to appeals by Johnson and others," a government spokesman said. "But Pakistan now is just engaged in political maneuvering."

President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan told a news conference in Rawalpindi Wednesday "the United States can play a very definite role by telling India and Pakistan she will not stand for this struggle."

Ayub also for the first time showed some flexibility on the question of a plebiscite in the disputed state of Kashmir, saying "it's a matter that can be negotiated." Up to now Pakistan has insisted on a plebiscite in Kashmir within three months.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri told the Indian Parliament today that Ayub is only trying to "beguile the world" with his talk of peace.

"The evidence is that Pakistan is intending to continue the fight," Shastri said.

He called on the Indian nation to "cheerfully undergo the hardships" necessary to stop what he called Pakistan's "naked aggression."

Name Californian Chief License Clerk

Mrs. Elizabeth Hughes, chief license clerk with the Public Service Commission, today was named assistant secretary to the PSC. Mrs. Hughes has been with the Commission since Sept. 20, 1949, working in the bus and truck division. She will continue her present duties in addition to her new position.

Mrs. Hughes is a native of California, Mo., and still resides in that community. She is the daughter of Mrs. Laura Hart Jones, California, and the late Edgar B. Jones.

Mrs. Hughes received her elementary education in Independence, Mo., schools and is a graduate of St. Vincent's High School, Kansas City, Mo. She has one daughter, Mrs. William Park Tempel, Columbia, Mo.

"Central to the hope of world peace through law is the United Nations... I hope we can strengthen the United Nations, not simply as a forum for debate but an arena for the solution of disputes... And my country will fully support the efforts of the secretary-general to bring peace between the great nations of India and Pakistan."

This was the only reference in Johnson's prepared text to the latest Asian conflict. He made no mention of a suggestion Wednesday by President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan that the United States assume a larger role in trying to end fighting over Kashmir.

While the administration has not ruled out possible direct American efforts to promote a Pakistan-India settlement, the immediate response to Ayub's statement was to reaffirm support of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's mediation attempts — and to gather more information about the private thinking reflected in Ayub's public statement.

Johnson's address, inspirational in tone, dealt only fleetingly with specific trouble spots. There was no direct mention of Viet Nam, for instance, although Johnson previously had invited U.N. efforts to promote a settlement there, too.

"There are those who say the rule of law is a fruitless and Utopian dream," said Johnson. "It is true that, if it comes, it will come slowly... But to deny the possibility is to deny peace itself."

In a more hopeful vein, he said: "I think we may be evolving a world consensus on which law can stand."

Late Bulletin

SHOALS, Ind. (AP) — Two sailors driving home on leave from the East Coast were killed here today when their car slammed into the front of a big truck.

State police said the driver apparently fell asleep.

Killed outright were the driver, Edward L. Bay, 18, Sedalia, Mo., and his lone passenger, Boris Karloff Echols, 31, Coolidge, Tex.

The truck driver, Eugene Gass, 57, Henderson, Ky., suffered minor injuries.

Authorities said both men were stationed aboard the USS Tidewater and apparently had driven all night from New York.

Fulbright's Contention

Challenge Reports L.B.J. Bungled Dominican Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and Democratic Sen. George A. Smathers challenged today Sen. J. W. Fulbright's contention that the Johnson administration bungled the Dominican crisis.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told the Senate Wednesday President Johnson was given "unsound advice" and that fear of a Communist takeover in Santo Domingo was based on misinformation and on "exaggerated estimates of Communist influence."

The Arkansas Democrat said "the danger to American lives was more a pretext than a reason for the massive United States intervention." He said, "In their panic lest the Dominican Republic become another Cuba, some of our officials seem to have forgotten that virtually all reform movements attract some Communist support."

Fulbright said Johnson, on the basis of the information and counsel he received, could hardly have acted other than he did. The senator said he had no objection to sending a modest contingent of U.S. troops to Santo Domingo to save American lives, but claimed there was "over action" by the administration in the dispatch of 22,000 men.

In a joint interview Dirksen and Smathers, secretary of the Democratic conference, disagreed with Fulbright's interpretation of the situation. Like Fulbright, they attended a White House meeting the night Johnson made his decision to send in troops.

The states included are Arkansas, Iowa, Louisiana, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

The bonus represents the seven per cent retroactive increase in social security benefits effective July 30.

Governor Rejects Proposal On Bid for Special Session

In Favor of Bipartisan Commission of Citizens

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes rejected quickly a proposal by 62 of the 122 Democrats in the Missouri House that he call a special session of the Legislature and give it free rein to devise another plan for distributing House seats.

The Democrats voted 62-24 for the proposal Wednesday at a caucus called by Speaker Thomas D. Graham, dogged foe of the U. S. Supreme Court's one-man one vote edict on the composition of state House seats.

Gov. Hearnes flew in from a visit to the Southern Governors' Conference at Sea Island, Ga., landed in a heavy rainstorm, checked over the new petition at his office and said:

"I didn't change my mind." The governor favors a bipartisan commission of private citizens — recommended by the political parties and appointed by the governor — for dividing the state into House districts with equal population.

Rep. Mel Carnahan, Democratic floor leader from Phelps County, said this would set up "an unreasonable power of the governor over a legislative body."

"It isn't pleasant to fight the governor," Carnahan said. "We didn't go looking for this."

In its six-month session in the first half of 1965, the Legislature adopted an apportionment scheme conceived by the House under the leadership of Graham and Carnahan; but it was rejected by the voters in a special election on Aug. 17.

Continue Search For Betsy Dead

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Authorities continued a house-to-house search today for bodies in eastern New Orleans as flood waters from Hurricane Betsy — which unleashed its fury a week ago — slowly receded.

A similar operation was under way in neighboring St. Bernard Parish, where 3 to 4 feet of water remained in some low-lying sections.

Police sealed off a 300-square block area after Dr. Rodney Jung, city health officer, said it was necessary because "conditions have deteriorated to an alarming degree."

A nauseating stench permeated the area, which contained green scum, floating garbage and hundreds of animal carcasses.

Communications with the devastated regions of lower Plaquemines Parish, 60 miles down the Mississippi River from New Orleans, remained out and there was no late word on conditions.

Earlier, Plaquemines officials said it would take 30-60 days alone to restore fresh water facilities.

An Inch Less Saved Boat Owner $5 Tax

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The owner of a Great Lakes watercraft must pay a $5 Michigan plate tax if the craft is 16 feet or longer.

One boat owner didn't want to pay.

"Consequently, the unidentified owner wrote Secretary of State James Hare, 'I have removed one inch from the bow of the boat. The boat should now be listed as 15 feet 11 inches.'"

Reduction In Gas Rate Announced

Richard C. Green, president of Missouri Public Service Company, announced today that there will be a reduction in natural gas rates to their consumers in this area.

The reduction came about as the result of an agreement between the Cities Service Gas Company and its customers which was approved by the Federal Power Commission. The Missouri Public Service Company, which purchases natural gas from the Cities Service Gas Company, will therefore reduce the rates charged its gas customers proportionally. Permission to reduce the rates has been granted to the company by the Missouri Public Service Commission.

The average residential natural gas consumer will receive a 1.46 per cent reduction which represents a decrease of about $2.09 per year. Industrial consumers will receive a 2.33 per cent reduction which represents a decrease of about $59.87 per year.

MPS Company officials explained that the new rates will be used in billing from meter reading on and after Sept. 7, 1965. The company will also refund the difference in rates charged natural gas consumers retroactive to April 23, 1964, which was the date when the Cities Service Gas Company initially increased their rates.

The rate reduction and refund will apply to the Missouri Public Service Company's natural gas consumers in the following cities: Clinton, Deerfield, Henrietta, Lexington, Marshall, Nevada, Platte City, Richmond, Sedalia, Tracy, Weston and the rural areas surrounding these communities.

Driver Absolved Of Blame In Mishap

MARSHALL, Mo. (AP) — A coroner's jury Wednesday night absolved Curtis Thorp, 19, Nelson, Mo., of any responsibility in the death of Kenneth Hammerand, 18, Marshall.

Sheriff Steve Rimmer told the jury, Thorp reported he was driving south of here early Wednesday morning when his car topped a rise in the road and ran over an object. It was Hammerand, son of a Missouri Highway Patrol sergeant stationed here. Hammerand's motorcycle, its gasoline tank empty, was found about seven miles away.

U. S. Makes First Raid Into Mekong

Strike Suspected Area 90 Miles From Viet Nam Capital

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force B-52 bombers made their first raid into the Mekong south of Saigon today, striking a suspected Red target 90 miles below the capital, U.S. military authorities said.

The raid over Vinh Binh Province was the 25th reported made by the jets of the Strategic Air Command against targets in Viet Nam.

The other raids have been carried out north of Saigon mostly in Zone D, long a Communist stronghold, and in the Ben Cat area a few miles north of the capital.

On the ground U.S. and allied troops ran into sniper and mortar fire as they tried to clear the Viet Cong from thick jungle near Ben Cat. Vietnamese paratroopers, joined by U.S. Australian and New Zealand troops have not yet made major contact with the elusive guerrillas, a spokesman said.

Australian and New Zealand troops suffered light losses in the jungle probe near Ben Cat, about 30 miles north of Saigon in Binh Duong Province, but no U.S. casualties were reported, he said.

Wind Storm Downs Many Trees, Wires

Heavy Rains, Wind And Some Hail Hit Sedalia Wednesday

A severe line of thunderstorms which struck Sedalia and the Central Missouri area about 7:45 p.m. Wednesday left widespread property damage in its path, but no injuries were reported to Bothwell Hospital or the Sedalia Police Department.

The storm was accompanied by a downpour of rain totalling 1.04 inches at the State Fair Floral observation station, high winds measured at near 50 m.p.h., some hail and brilliant flashes of lightning.

Early Thursday morning a massive cleanup was underway both by Street and Alley workers and property owners. Streets throughout the city were strewn with downed limbs and trees blocked traffic at a number of locations.

Among the first calls received at the police station was one at 7:46 p.m. from the State Highway Patrol at Lee's Summit informing municipal stations a tornado had touched down at East Linn, Mo., and was headed in an easterly direction. Within a matter of a few minutes rain struck the Sedalia area quickly followed by heavy winds.

So terrific were the winds that numerous trees were uprooted, tree limbs blown from trees and leaves whipped from the trees as if they were hand-stripped.

Police officers in patrol cars reported to headquarters the wind was so terrific they thought for a time their vehicles might be turned over.

As tree limbs fell they tore down light wires over the city, causing so many calls to the fire department and police headquarters no accurate count was kept. Police estimated they received 100 calls during the storm.

A tree was blown over at 12th and Ohio and had traffic blocked. Another tree was blown down in the 100 block on East 13th, falling over an automobile of Dorothy Swope, 1220 South Lamine, damaging the front of it. Another limb was reported blown down in the 100 block on East Sixth also on an automobile.

Police received a report the roof over a patio at 2509 Wing was ripped away. A limb damaged an auto owned by Logan H. Wulff, 624 West Fifth, and another car was reported damaged at 617 East 11th.

Another report was received a tree had blown down and knocked the front porch from a home in the 200 block of East Chestnut, and numerous trees in the 100 block and 200 block of East Chestnut had been blown down.

In the 200 block on North Washington a large tree was uprooted and a limb struck the UPROOTED — Winds which reached 50 m.p.h. downed numerous trees in Sedalia Wednesday night and some of the larger ones blocked traffic until city employees could get them cleared away. This tree was uprooted in the 1200 block of South Ohio.

AUTO STORM VICTIM — A late model car owned by Dorothy Swope, 1220 South Lamine, was heavily damaged across the front and top when this tree fell on it while the car was parked in the 100 block of East 13th Street Wednesday night. The tree also blocked traffic on 13th Street.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I'll wager you have never received a letter like this. I'm betting it will never appear in print.

Three weeks ago we committed our 15-year-old son to a state mental hospital because we don't have the money to give him the special treatment he needs.

On his 11th day the boy's father and I went to visit him. He told us he had been put in solitary for three days because he tried to escape. Three days later he did escape, along with five others. That same evening he telephoned us and asked us to come and get him. He begged us not to send him back to the hospital but we did anyway. We thought it would be best for him. Now we're not sure we did the right thing.

The boy's room is bare of all furniture. It has a concrete floor and he sleeps on a mattress. I know mental patients used to be treated like animals but I thought that was back in the Dark Ages.

I'd have to be sicker than he is to believe this is proper treatment for a boy with a sick mind. What can you do about it, Ann Landers? — FAITH SHATTERED.

Dear Faith Shattered: I can print your letter—and here it is. I am not printing the name of your state, however. Instead I am asking every person with a social conscience to ask himself, "Could this happen in MY state?"

Kansas readers don't need to check. Thanks to the Menningers you have the finest state mental hospital in the U. S. Many other states should hang their heads in shame. How about YOURS?

Dear Ann Landers: My husband always had a pretty hot temper. Recently he seemed to be getting better and I was very pleased with the way things were going — until last night. We got home from a party and he started to criticize me for helping the hostess serve refreshments. He said I was no maid and I should have remained seated with the guests.

All of a sudden he yelled, "Pack my suitcase," so I did. The next thing I knew he took the suitcase, hit me over the head with it and yelled, "So you WANT me to leave, do you? Well, I'm staying right here!" If a wife does as she's told she gets clobbered. If she doesn't she gets clobbered. Either way it's no good. I need advice.—CANT WIN.

Dear Can't: Tell your husband a hit over the head is called assault and battery and if he doesn't lay off he may be called up to explain his extraordinary behavior to a judge.

Dear Ann Landers: A close friend of mine who is 18 years old insists she is madly in love with a boy 19. The boy has been in the hospital for six months with rheumatic fever. He also has migraine headaches. Ever since I've known him (10 years) he has had some physical complaint which kept him out of school, away from work, or apart from the crowd.

Since the boy has come home from the hospital Christine is at his side constantly. She has dedicated herself to making his life easy and pleasant.

I realize the boy is sick, but since Christine is smothering him with attention and service he is making no effort to get well. Please tell me what kind of a life this girl will have if they marry.—HATE TO SEE IT HAPPEN.

Dear Hate to See It: Some women pick invalids because they get a feeling of personal worth out of sacrificing themselves. Noble? Well—to a point, but it can mask a martyr complex which is pretty sick stuff. If Christine marries the boy she had better plan on being a lifetime nurse and probably the breadwinner as well.

Unprepared Troopers Fight Jungle And VC Guerrillas

By ROBIN MANNOCK
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — It was one of those times when nothing goes right. It began with an abortive raid on a Viet Cong stronghold and ended amid the burning wreckage of a crashed helicopter.

In between came 30 nightmare hours of hacking and marching through the jungle of Viet Nam's central highlands with one company of "Screaming Eagles" of the 101st Airborne Division close to An Khe.

Hungry and thirsty, though drenched to the skin by blinding rainstorms, men of Bravo company gave uncomplaining testimony to the fighting spirit of their crack paratrooper outfit while breaking almost every rule in the manual of jungle warfare.

Training in the United States did not prepare them for impenetrable thorn thickets or spike-studded creepers that trip a man or slash at his face, hands and clothing. Before they came to Viet Nam five weeks ago, these men had been taught to fight in the desert.

"It's going to be one of those pick 'em up and lay 'em down footslogging infantry affairs," warned Lt. Col. Joseph B. Rogers of Fairfax, Va., as he outlined an operation to flush out and destroy Viet Cong guerrillas.

Bravo company, led by Capt. James Nichols of Clarksville, Tenn., had been assigned to act as the western side of a piston to drive the Viet Cong on to the guns of another company airlifted into the zone in helicopters.

Within minutes of starting their march at 1:45 a.m., Bravo company soldiers gave practical demonstrations of their inexperience in jungle fighting. Men talked, giving away their position; they moved bunched together, presenting a choice target for Viet Cong machine guns. Later, they walked up the dry bed of a stream. Its steep banks would have given few any chance to escape an ambush.

By daybreak, the company still was a long way from its attack point, which it was due to reach before dawn. Artillery fire and strafing by helicopter gunships, scheduled to coincide with the advance, could be heard in the distance.

Bravo company then got lost. Colored smoke grenades were used to reveal the company's position for spotter aircraft which guided the troops out of the jungle.

Men also used jungle trails familiar to the Viet Cong. Two men were spiked by punji sticks—slices of needle-sharp bamboo planted by the Viet Cong. Hundreds of punji sticks, many of them smeared with filth to make a wound fester, had been left.

When Bravo company reached the suspect zone, four hours behind schedule, all Viet Cong had left. Soldiers burned bamboo huts hidden in the jungle, destroyed food caches and blew up underground bunkers.

At 3 p.m., the company set out for a helicopter landing zone 2½ miles away. Eleven hours and two driving rainstorms later, the company flopped exhausted on the trail, utterly lost. No guards were posted and no defense perimeter was established. Radio contact had been blotted out. Men slept in their wet combat fatigues in the mud.

Lt. Philip Norman, a rangy, taciturn Texan who was graduated from Rice University, sent word to platoon commanders to keep half their men awake.

Then he organized a small squad to move forward to seek a clearing where a defense perimeter could be set up in case of an attack at dawn. Alternatively, he was trying to find the way to the landing zone. Several mortar bombs came whistling overhead and exploded harmlessly in the jungle.

Norman also re-established radio contact and asked the troops holding the landing zone to fire flare bombs. Several of these were invisible in the darkness of the jungle, where progress was cut by nightfall to 60 yards an hour from a daylight average of 300 yards.

Norman and his party reached their objective at 8:15 a.m. His men had been marching almost without a break for 30 hours.

The rest of the company emerged from the jungle an hour later. Most had slept until daylight. Despite the debacle, the physical condition of Bravo company and their high morale were evident.

Flying back to An Khe in the helicopter which brought "C" rations and water for Bravo company, this reporter and another newsmen heard a sharp clunk from the engine department and a red light began glowing on the pilot's dashboard.

The roar of the helicopter's engine subsided. The aircraft began to drop fast from 1,500 feet. The pilot remained icy calm.

He switched the rotor blades to auto-rotation and the helicopter windmilled down. One of the machine gunners turned and said: "Don't worry."

With a great crash, the helicopter tore through the upper branches of some trees.

The pounding contact with the ground followed almost immediately. The fuselage canted to its left and trapped the copilot. A voice could be heard moaning: "I'm hurt. My leg, my leg."

Crewmen grabbed fire extinguisher. Soldiers appeared from nowhere. One pointed to the stricken copilot and yelled: "Get him out!"

Some tried to reach the copilot from the left side but were driven back by flames. Then a team of men pulled him free. They carried him to another helicopter which had landed in a nearby clearing. His back was fractured.

Helicopters flew the injured to An Khe's aid station. The two writers had cuts and bruises.

Steel Industry Steps Up Efforts For Modernization

By PHILIP J. KEUPER
NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's steel industry, faced with higher labor costs and pricing problems, is stepping up a vast modernization program.

The outlay for new plants and equipment in this huge industry may top $2 billion in 1966 for the first time, observers say. Many believe that the 2.2 per cent wage increase won this month by the United Steelworkers Union may have broadened steel company modernization plans.

The American Iron and Steel Institute estimates steel companies will spend a record $1.9 billion this year on projects designed to melt and roll steel more efficiently. Not since 1957 has the industry spent comparable sums on modernization. But with profits now at a seven-year peak and production at record levels, steel mills are showing a new face.

Fast-working oxygen furnaces are replacing conventional open hearths. There are computer-run mills and streamlined shapes for the thousands of products that contain steel.

Critics of the industry say the modernization program was long overdue — that it should have been launched on a vast scale in the years after World War II. Partly because of greater efficiency, the steel industry's payroll costs per ton of steel shipped dropped from $65.50 in 1961 to $55.25 in the first six months of 1965.

Higher steel prices has been a touchy prospect for the industry since 1962 when the late President John F. Kennedy rolled back steel price boosts in a bitter government-industry battle. The same year, the industry put out $911 million for capital projects, increased it to $1.04 billion in 1963, then to an estimated $1.6 billion in 1964.

Competition from foreign steel, which made inroads during the industry's costly 116-day strike in 1959, also has speeded the industry's modernization pace.

Some steel plant projects are enormous. Bethlehem Steel Corp. claims its $400-million steel-rolling mill at Burns Harbor, Ind., is the world's largest private construction project in progress.

Steelmaking advances include continuous casting of molten steel into semifinished shapes, a European process that does away with some costly steps in the traditional steelmaking process.

New rolling mills to form semifinished steel into finished shapes are being built — some equipped with computers to control the process. Computers already are running two strip steel mills and a dozen more computer-controlled mills are being installed or built.

Probably the biggest advance has been the installation of oxygen furnaces, which melt raw steel faster and cheaper than the traditional open hearth furnaces. Steel producers already have put in 26 million tons of oxygen furnace capacity.

What impact modernization will have on the number of workers employed by the steel mills is a question steel executives are hesitant to tackle. They say that because of the record demand for steel, the industry's payroll has been climbing. In July it stood at 613,000 workers, compared with 554,000 five years before.

Ringo a Father

LONDON (AP)—Mrs. Ringo Starr gave birth to a son Monday and her Beatle husband pronounced him "a little smasher."

"I was too excited to ask how much he weighed in—who worries about things like that when you've just become a father?" asked Ringo.

Ringo and the former Maureen Cox, a hairdresser from the Beatles' hometown of Liverpool, were married in February.

Highway Deaths Subject Of Lions Meeting

"Death on the Highway" was the theme of the Sedalia Lions Club noonday meeting, Wednesday, when the program was given by Chief of Police William E. Miller, who spoke briefly on traffic rules and regulations, calling attention of the Lions by asking question regarding violations they may have made driving to work Wednesday morning.

The speaker was introduced by John Ellison, program chairman for the month, who also introduced Assistant Chief of Police Charles Knapp.

A colored motion picture of numerous traffic accidents taken in the State of Ohio and the working of the Highway Patrol of that state was shown. It reviewed several fatal accidents, showing the horrible results of the accidents along with what happens to the victims.

President Dr. O. J. Durnell presided over the meeting and announced the Lions annual George James picnic would be held on Wednesday night, Sept. 29, while the noonday meeting would be devoted to club discussions of special interest. The picnic is to be held at the Catholic Community Center.

The exercise is of special importance to the Army training and it is deemed a compliment to the unit and the Missouri Army Guard to have been selected to take part according to the statement by General Adams. The battalion is designated as a self-propelled artillery unit although they are currently in training with towed artillery weapons. This exercise will present the unusual opportunity to train with new mechanized formations in large scale active army maneuvers for a "first" in the National Guard in many years.

General Adams is asking that all industries and business firms employing members of this battalion to give special consideration in adjusting work schedules so a maximum number of Guardsmen can participate in these important winter exercises. He emphasized that this type training is vital to the national defense posture and cooperation by industry shows their willingness to assist in national defense.

Wind Storm

side of Pap's Chicken Shack on the corner of Washington and St. Louis knocking a hole in a wall. Light wires leading to the house at 204 North Washington were ripped down and the light meter was torn from the residence when limbs fell.

Light wires were being reported to the Missouri Public Service Co., to the police and a fire department as being down, some lying across houses, across parked automobiles and across numerous streets.

Shortly before 10 p.m. as Billy Miller, 27, Green Ridge, was driving east in the 500 block on West Fifth, in company of Miss Karen Noel, 22, 709 West Fifth, a large tree limb fell from a tree in front of 518 West Fifth, crashing onto the front of Miller's 1956 Ford sedan.

Miller said the tree struck on the hood of the car and slid up into the windshield knocking it out. Both Miller and Miss Noel escaped injury.

The Sedalia Street and Alley Department called out city employees during the height of the storm and had them busy cutting trees up and shoving them back to the curbs so traffic could continue on various streets.

All available linemen of the Missouri Public Service Co. were called out to make emergency repairs; to cut off hot wires which had become dangerous from being dropped to the streets. They were also busy checking various feeder lines into the various sections of the city in an endeavor to restore service as quickly as possible.

Reports received in Sedalia indicated Warrensburg was struck by the same storm and also suffered considerable damage.

No attempt to estimate damage was made.

The count of fire calls was lost when many of the calls received were repeats reporting wires in trees and sparking on the wet ground.

Heavy storm damage was reported at the farm home of O. E. Kennedy southeast of Otterville.

Candles were gathered when lights went out at an after dinner church meeting during the gale. But, not one of the 80 persons present had a match as the congregation practices abstinence from smoking. Candles were lighted, however, when one member turned on a gas kitchen stove burner to ignite a candlewick.

Accidents

Joe Wasson, 19, driver for Shryack - Wright Grocery Co., suffered minor injuries about 6 p.m. Wednesday when he fell backward into a ditch on Pettis County Route D when gasoline fumes from the truck he was driving, exploded but did not catch fire.

Wasson was enroute east on Route D when he smelled gasoline fumes. He stopped his truck a short distance west of the junction of U.S. Highway 65 and started to investigate. When he raised the hood on the truck the fumes seemed to explode, but did not ignite. He either fell or stumbled backward into the rocky ditch.

At the time he was unable to get back to his truck, apparently suffering from shock, and was found by Earl Hunter and his son-in-law, John F. Weather Jr., who were notified by Miss Beth Ann Hall, 19, Longwood, who was passing the scene.

Miss Hall drove to the Hunter service station at the junction of Highway 65 and Routes D and J, and notified Hunter. When they arrived, Wasson was lying in the road in front of the truck and seemed to be unable to get up, complaining of his back. The motor on the truck was still running and they disconnected it.

Trooper William Southwick, making the investigation, did find the gas line from the tank to the carburetor was broken. He had the truck towed to Sedalia by Bacon's wrecker.

Wasson was taken to Bothwell Hospital in a Gillespie ambulance where he was rendered medical treatment by Dr. J. W. Maunders and admitted. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Wasson, 906 East Fourth, while he reported he was residing at 652 East 15th.

Involved, according to police, were a 1959 Ford, driven by Keith E. Kettner, 17, 2312 First Street Terrace, and a 1961 Cadillac, driven by William Kenneth Schilb, 45, 2408 Dennis Road.

Damage was listed to the left front of the Kettner auto and to the rear of the Schilb vehicle.

No one was injured in a two-car accident at Broadway and Osage at 11:56 a.m. Wednesday, however both cars were damaged.

A 1960 MGA, driven by Larry D. Watson, 16, 511 Dal-Whi-Mo, headed west, was in collision with a 1964 Buick, driven by Laura M. Williams, 63, 1610 East Broadway. The rear of the Williams car and the right front fender of the Watson car were damaged.

Two cars collided at Broadway and Limit at 3:10 p.m. Wednesday resulting in damage to both.

Police listed the autos involved as a 1953 MG convertible, driven north on Limit by Paige N. Elrod, 21, Belleville, Neb., and a 1953 Chevrolet, driven south on Limit by Arthur E. Soderstrom, 75, 1509 South Ingram. The fronts of both vehicles were damaged.

Soderstrom complained of his chest and right shoulder following the mishap although he was not sent for emergency treatment. He was issued a summons for careless and imprudent driving and is to appear in Police Court on Sept. 24.

Police reported the mishap occurred as the Soderstrom auto was making a left turn.

No Place for Sensitive Skin

Yes, indeed, school days are here! Ask any member of Sedalia city council or Board of Education.

One week after school doors opened, constituents and patrons of the educational institutions swooped down on the two administrative groups to register early complaints about the service.

Council heard from those who believe there are not enough adult guards at several elementary schools. The School Board heard expressions of dissatisfaction with school bus routes in four rural districts.

The right to be heard is a privilege of the taxpayers. The obligation to listen is a requirement of elected officials. So far this procedure has been observed but it is not going to be easy for the boards to come up with solutions.

As pointed out previously about additional crossing guards—they cost money. And so it has been explained about school busses making more stops than originally scheduled before start of the school term—more stops will cost more money.

This explains why boards dealing with taxpayers' money have finance committees to make budgets and try to cope with extra requests that persistently are injected into operations of the public's affairs.

Someone has suggested that the city to obtain more money might raise the garbage collection rate which was never the right amount from the start. This raise is going to be made anyway, but the planning of it never included the $2,700 it will take to hire four more crossing guards.

Is it possible there may be some mothers or retired persons who would volunteer as traffic directors at the schools as a matter of public service? This would sure take the problem off the back of the council's finance committee.

The school board has a knottier problem. It relates to school bus routes passing rural homes without children being picked up. They must walk some distance to a pre-designated stopping point. Bus service already arranged for will cost $10,260.

It as requested by rural school patrons, the school board ultimately provides safety, service, efficiency, economy and health in a revised bus schedule, the extra financing of this procedure is something with which the taxpayers will have to cope.

We have heard no complaints from taxpayers about anyone's request for more service. Everybody wants it and expects it. Who pays for it? Well, now that's another matter.

It is evident the city council and board of education members, all business people, do not have a soft time in public service.

If anyone thinks they do have, how about getting applications ready as candidates for office in next April's election? Those who get in line, however, should check the sensitivity of their skin. It had better be something like rawhide.

Chinese Reds Train for Infiltration

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is on a news-gathering tour of Africa. In his absence the column will be written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Ominous reports have reached the United States that the Red Chinese are preparing to infiltrate 50,000 Vietnamese-speaking guerrillas into South Viet Nam as a "first step" towards participation in the war.

The recruiting drive is centered in Kwangsi province across the border from Viet Nam. The people of Southern Kwangsi are familiar enough with the Vietnamese language and customs that a guerrilla force should be able to cross into Viet Nam without it appearing to be a Chinese invasion.

Significantly, these preparations are tied to the defection of Li Tsung-Jen, a former nationalist vice president, who recently slipped behind the bamboo curtain after 16 years in the United States. This column pointed out after his defection that Li was a hero to the people of Kwangsi province.

Evidence that the Chinese communists are now using Li to help form a guerrilla force is contained in a confidential report to the army from Johns Hopkins University's operations research office. This office does much of the army's intelligence analysis.

Speaking of the Chinese preparation to send guerrillas to Viet Nam, the report declares, "A total of 50,000 Vietnamese-speaking Kwangsi people will be conscripted as a first step."

"According to intelligence reports," the report continues, "Li Tsung-Jen, together with Chinese military leaders Lin Piao and Lo Jui-Ching . . . called a high-level conference in Kwangsi province to launch a movement for the Yao minority group to participate in the war."

"50,000 volunteers of both sexes who can speak Vietnamese will be organized into military service. The reserve army will also be composed of 50,000."

"Within a short time, they will be dispatched from Hanoi to the battlefield in South Viet Nam to assist the Viet Cong guerrillas in resisting American troops and the troops of South Viet Nam."

King of Corn

Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen, whose sagging face, woolly hair and organ voice are beloved in the Senate, has been called the "King of Corn" and the "old windbag."

Some researchers have found it appropriate that he once worked for the Corn Products Refining Company and served briefly as a World War I balloonist.

But after the hot air has lifted, probably no past minority leader has wangled more patronage and won more concessions from the party in power.

A case in point is his attempt to upset the Supreme Court ruling that state legislatures must be apportioned according to population. When the Senate narrowly defeated his constitutional amendment, he came back with a slightly modified version.

He expected Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., to cast the deciding vote for it in the judiciary committee. When Dodd voted against it, old Ev cried out in dismay.

Dodd replied quietly that Ev must have misunderstood, but the "Wizard of Ooze," as Dirksen is also called, isn't easily rebuffed. Muttering darkly that he wouldn't be pushed around, he retaliated by throwing a legislative block in the way of the immigration bill.

Around the White House, old Ev is sometimes known by still another nickname: "Irrksome Dirksen." To avoid a collision, President Johnson did as past presidents have frequently done; he saw to it that Dirksen got what he wanted.

Secret Phone Call

This was arranged through Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who telephoned Dodd from the White House while the President hovered in the background. Mansfield urged Dodd to go along with Dirksen on reapportionment in return for the Republican leader's cooperation in springing the immigration bill.

This is merely the last in a series of Democratic efforts to keep Dirksen happy.

The late President Kennedy, for example, ignored the recommendations of Illinois Democrats by appointing Dirksen's nominee, Judge Bernard Decker, to the federal bench. This so embarrassed Dirksen's Democratic challenger, Sid Yates, that the White House tried to keep the appointment quiet until after the 1962 election. But the word leaked out that the White House thought more of Dirksen than of Yates.

To compound Yates' embarrassment, Mansfield as the Senate Democratic spokesman lavishly praised Dirksen on the eve of the 1962 election.

Praise From Mansfield

"Everett," said Mansfield, turning to the Republican leader, "I am honored and grateful that you sit across the aisle from me. You are a tower of strength as a collaborator in the leadership of this body. For 30 years you have served your party faithfully and brilliantly. But for 30 years, you have served our country more."

The statement, circulated all over Illinois, helped to re-elect Dirksen.

Not long afterward, Kennedy appointed Dirksen's hand-picked candidate, the late Harold Woodward, to the Federal Power Commission, thus giving him a voice in making billion-dollar decisions affecting the oil and gas industry. This was of more than casual interest to Dirksen, whose Peoria, Ill., law firm represents big oil and gas clients.

Earlier this year, Dirksen persuaded President Johnson to name still another of his friends, Carl Bagge, to the Federal Power Commission. This appointment, too, was part of the Democratic placate-Dirksen program.

Fulbright Talk Based On 'Hindsight'

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas has denounced the Johnson administration's handling of the Dominican Republic revolt while practically excusing President Johnson of blame.

This just adds confusion to a situation which was already a little foggy. And Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, admits he is now talking from the "benefit of hindsight."

But Fulbright might have no complaint at all if Johnson could have waited for the benefit of hindsight before deciding it was necessary to send Marines into the Dominican Republic. Then he might have acted differently.

Briefly, this was the background:

Chronic Nailbiters Need Self-Confidence

By RALPH W. LOWE, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A mother writes that her son, 13, bites his nails whenever he is not using his hands and especially while watching television. Since this common habit is an indication of some form of inner tension it will do no good to scold or nag the boy. The best treatment is to relieve his need to bite his nails by bolstering his self-confidence.

He should be praised for his accomplishments, however modest, and he should not be pushed beyond his ability. If the television shows he watches are overly exciting his parents should try to alter his tastes, but this must be done tactfully and without undue pressure or the nail-biting will be aggravated.

Q—My daughter, 11, has alopecia. First her eyelashes fell out, then she got a bald spot on her scalp the size of a half dollar. What caused this and what can be done for it?

A—When baldness comes on rather suddenly in patches (alopecia areata) it usually persists for several months before the hair gradually returns. The cause is unknown. Feeding these children dried brewer's yeast sometimes helps. Other helpful measures include daily massage with an ointment containing anthralin or prednisolone and gradually increasing exposure to sunlight, taking care to avoid sunburn. As the disease subsides the eyelashes will also come back.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for those who may write with a pencil or ballpoint pen for long periods of time. Sometimes I write for hours and have gotten a callous on my middle finger where the pen rubbed. I took the foam from a broken foam hair curler, slipped my pen through the hole in the center and writing is now easy and with no rubbing. —VERA

DEAR POLLY — In our downstairs closet I keep a wire coat hanger with a plastic bag pulled over the top (a hole is cut for the hook to come through) and the bag is cut off so it is only about nine inches long. On the hanger I have a row of snap clothespins and to them I fasten my gloves when I hang up my coat after coming home. The gloves are always neat and in place when I am ready to go out again. There is no running back upstairs to get the right color or pair. My husband has such a hanger of his own so he never has to look through overcoat and jacket pockets to find the gloves he wants. —DOROTHY

DEAR POLLY—Before starting on a paint job, dab some paint on the underside of the can so it serves as "glue" to stick the can to a larger paper plate. If any paint drips down the outside of the can as you work, the plate catches it and prevents paint spots on the floor when you set the can down.

Stretch heavy rubber bands lengthwise around your child's toy autos or trucks. They act as bumpers to prevent scratches on the furniture or baseboards. Bands cut from old tire inner tubes are excellent for this. —G. M. D.

Autumnal Fault—Beginning Of New Cocktail Season

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody talks about cocktail parties, but nobody ever does anything about them — except to throw another one.

One of the ordeals of autumn is that it signals the start of a new cocktail party season with all its attendant perils to millions of American alimentary canals which have rested up during the summer.

Originally, the cocktail party was invented as a pleasant way of paying off small social debts en masse. But it outgrew that idea long ago. Now it is just another way to get even with folks.

The basic requirement for an opening bid is high card strength. You are starting to attack and need ammunition.

The basic requirement for an overall is playing strength. You need some high cards, otherwise your overall is pointless, but when you base an overall on high card points, especially at the two level, you are inviting trouble to pay you a visit.

spade call, but his astonishment did not keep him from doubling. South had no place to run.

West took his king and ace of hearts and continued with the queen and another club. East took his ace and king of clubs and shifted to a trump which West won with the ten. West played ace and four of diamonds. East's king of diamonds became the eighth defensive trick. A third diamond lead allowed West to ruff for the ninth trick and he still was sure of one more trump trick.

South was ready with all sorts of futile talk. He remarked that he had saved a slam. He hadn't. East and West could come close to a slam, but close doesn't count. Then he mentioned the fact that he had 11 high card points.

He was correct about that. One ace, three queens and one jack do count up to 11, but as we have pointed out many times, "Points don't take tricks! Cards do!" South had no reason to expect that his side queens and jacks would take tricks at spades and they didn't.

No one hears what another says. Why should he? After all, he has a few things he wants to get off his chest himself. Undoubtedly thousands of brilliant bon mots have been uttered at cocktail parties. But who remembers ever hearing one?

By 9 p.m. the host's living room, which looked so lovely only four hours before, now reeks of smoke like an opium den. It couldn't be more disarranged if Geronimo had held a reunion of his tribe there.

At midnight wives are hauling reluctant husbands out the door and saying, "Give me the keys — I'll have to drive." Roscoe lies in wait, trying to give each a revengeful nip as they pass.

The party is supposed to last from 5 to 7 — and it does. The last guest is found sleeping under a sofa at 7 the next morning, and sent tottering on his way.

All who attended wake up with baggy eyes and stomachs feeling as if they had been beaten with rubber truncheons. "Never again," they groan feebly. But when next time comes, they're ready to go again.

More Troops Expected In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands more Army infantrymen are expected to be shipped to South Viet Nam in a continuing build-up beyond the 125,000-man troop level announced by President Johnson.

Defense sources indicated that the remainder of the 1st Infantry Division is likely to follow one of its brigades already in Viet Nam.

Dimensions of the additional build-up in Viet Nam are unclear. Final presidential decisions may still be pending.

However, knowledgeable sources said they look for a substantial increase in U. S. troop strength in Viet Nam.

An estimated 11,000 members of the 1st Infantry Division still are at Ft. Riley, Kan. There have been a number of indications they may be getting ready to move out.

Among other things, it is reported the Army will train a new division, probably an infantry outfit, at Ft. Riley. That post can accommodate only one division-size force at a time, sources said.

In addition to more infantrymen, it was indicated the Army probably will send combat support and logistics elements to Viet Nam. These, too, likely would be numbered in the thousands.

The bulk of new troop movements to Viet Nam probably will involve Army forces, sources said. The movements probably will be spread out over weeks and even months.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk pried up the lid on the build-up situation Monday when he told newsmen on Capitol Hill the prospective troop level in Viet Nam has been raised above 125,000.

Arrival of the Army's 1st Cavalry Division, a helicopter-borne airmobile outfit, is under way. When completed, it will bring U. S. troops strength in Viet Nam close to the 125,000 mark.

Funny Little Guy

Linzy Helps S. F. Giants Laugh Whole Way To Title

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Linzy is a funny fellow. And he's helping the San Francisco Giants laugh all the way to the National League pennant.

The laconic rookie from Oklahoma with the snappy wit and the sinkerball to match proved again Wednesday night that he's one of the best relief pitchers in the business when he nailed down the Giants' 13th straight victory — a 3-2 squeaker over the Houston Astros.

Linzy replaced Bob Shaw in the eighth inning with one run in, one man on, none out and the score tied 2-2. He faced only five men, recorded six outs, and finished the night with his sixth victory in a row on Willie McCovey's game-winning single in the ninth.

Willie Mays played a key role — an inevitable development in the Giants' spectacular drive.

The Wondrous One singled in the game's first run in the fourth and scored the winner in the ninth, racing to second when his sizzler drove through Walt Bond for an error, then coming in on McCovey's liner off Bond's glove.

The win kept San Francisco a comfortable 3½ games ahead in the race for the flag. The Cincinnati Reds took over second place, beating the New York Mets 2-1 behind Jim Maloney's pitching, while the Los Angeles Dodgers dropped to third with an 8-6 loss to the Chicago Cubs.

Also in the NL — Milwaukee snapped its losing string at three games, downing Philadelphia 4-2 with the help of a throwing error by Bobby Wine; and Curt Flood rapped out five hits and drove in five runs as St. Louis whipped Pittsburgh 7-3.

Maloney, bringing his record to 19-7, also singled in the deciding run against the Mets as the Reds scored both their runs in the second inning. Four straight singles got the job done — by Deron Johnson, Johnny Edwards, Leo Cardenas and Maloney. Ed Kranepool hit a homer for New York's run.

The Dodgers took a 3-0 lead in the first inning, but the Cubs drove Don Drysdale from the mound in the second inning when he was hit in the foot by a line drive off the bat of Ernie Banks. Then they made the most of three errors and singles by Harvey Kuenn and pitcher Dick Ellsworth for three runs and a 5-3 lead in the fifth inning.

Tony Cloninger brought his record to 22-9 for the Braves, who scored three runs in the seventh inning. Two came in on Wine's throwing error and Hank Aaron doubled in the third. Wes Covington hit a homer for the Phillies.

Flood doubled in a run in the third inning for the Cardinals, singled home two more in the fourth, smacked a run-producing single in the sixth and singled home another run in a three-run ninth that nailed it against the Pirates.

Q-Backs On Doubtful List At KU

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kansas coach Jack Mitchell has only two men on the doubtful list for Saturday night's football opener at Texas Tech. Trouble is, they are his no. 1 and no. 2 quarterbacks.

And this is the year, the usually conservative Mitchell plans to develop an all-out passing game throwing the ball 50 to 60 per cent of the time. His receivers are rarin' to go—even Willie Ray Smith with his two operated knees. But who's gonna throw it?

Starter Bob Skahan, who ended last season with 67 consecutive passes without interception, pulled a thigh muscle last week and probably won't play at all. Little Bill Fenton, 150-pound sophomore backing up Skahan, was treated at the hospital Wednesday for fever and chest congestion. Mitchell termed it "sort of a chest virus."

This brings the Jayhawks to the No. 3 man, Wally Hinshaw, better known for his punting. What happens if Hinshaw gets hurt?

"Then I guess we'd just go to the single wing," Mitchell said. At Nebraska, coach Bob Devaney termed his team's opener with Texas Christian at Lincoln "very unpredictable because either team could have changed its offense or defense or both since last spring."

Devaney said TCU quarterback Kent Nix is effective on sprint-out run-pass options, both as a passer and runner. He also praised TCU's experienced defensive secondary, but warned "we're not going to stop throwing just because of that."

At Missouri, John (Hi) Simmons, baseball coach and long-time assistant to Don Faurot in football, said the Tigers' biggest handicap Saturday could be injury-enforced idleness of key Missouri backs.

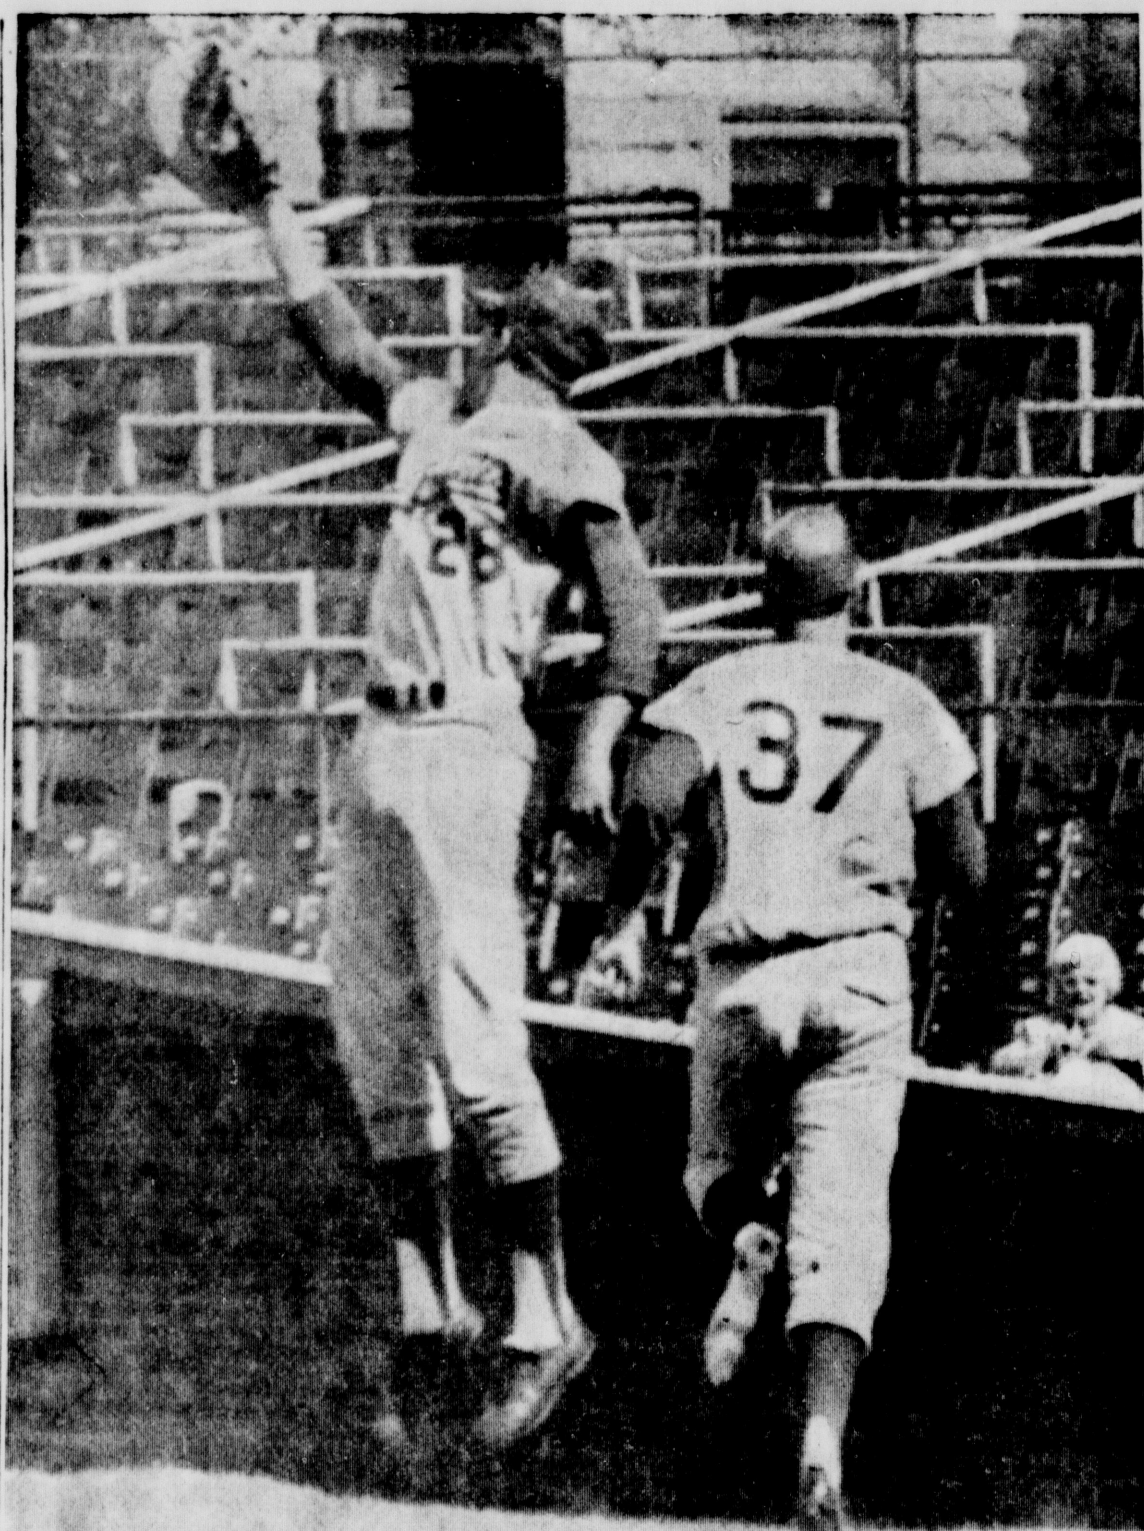

"Why, that No. 1 backfield hasn't been together since they posed for photographers late last month," Simmons said. Coach Dan Devine and his staff share his concern. All starters except Earl Denny are ready.

As for Rick Norton, Kentucky's gifted senior quarterback, Simmons had this analogy: "He's like the good two-strike hitter in baseball, always tough under pressure."

Kansas State Coach Doug Weaver moved end Art Strozier and guard Jim Johnson to the first offensive line, then commented "we have a tremendous amount of respect for Indiana coach Johnny Pont and his record."

At Colorado, chief assistant Rudy Feldman praised Wisconsin's big veteran defensive team and called middle guard Mike London, 227, one of the best in the nation.

Phil Cutchin, Oklahoma State coach, said "Yes, injuries have bothered us quite a bit in practice but I don't plan on saying who is hurt or how bad." He said Arkansas is a great team. Coach Clay Stapleton at Iowa State warned his players Drake is always at its best against

ELLSWORTH SAFE — Los Angeles Dodgers' first baseman Wes Parker (28) looks over his shoulder at high thrown ball he tried to catch from pitcher Howie Reed in the fifth ing of game in Chicago. Cubs' runner Dick Ellsworth (37) was safe, Cubs' Harvey Kuenn scored on the play, putting Cubs ahead 5-3. Final score was Cubs, 8-6. (UPI)

Cardinals Boom Out 7-3 Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don't tell the fans in Pittsburgh that the St. Louis Cardinals are in seventh place in the National League, 14 games behind San Francisco. They just won't believe you.

The Cards bombed the Pirates, 7-3 Wednesday night for their 16th straight victory in Forbes Field at Pittsburgh.

In the American League, Kansas City failed to slow Minnesota's rush toward the pennant, bowing to the Twins, 7-5.

Curt Flood led the Cardinals with five hits. The St. Louis centerfielder drove in five runs and upped his chances for his third consecutive 200-hit season. Flood's 5-for-6 night gave him the club lead in runs batted in with 77. He also leads the regulars with a .306 average.

Ray Sadecki picked up his fifth victory against 13 defeats, going 6 2-3 innings and giving up only three hits before Nelson Briles came on in relief.

The Cardinals wind up their season series with the Pirates tonight. Tracy Stallard (10-7) is scheduled to pitch for St. Louis against Tom Sisk (6-3).

Two Minnesota rookies came through with pinch singles Wednesday night to lead the Twins to victory and reduce the club's pennant-clinching number to six.

Ted Uhlaender and Joe Nosske came through in the clutch against relief hurlers John Wyatt and Don Mossi, breaking a 5-5 tie in the eighth.

Kansas City had rallied from a 5-1 deficit to tie the game with a home run barrage. Ken Harrelson and Larry Stahl blasted solo homers in the fifth inning to trim Minnesota's margin to 5-3.

Then in the eighth, Bill Bryan socked a bases-empty homer to pull the A's within one. Mike Hershberger singled to drive in the tying run after reliever Dave Boswell walked two men.

The two clubs met again today with Fred Talbot (10-10) getting the nod for the A's. Jim Grant (19-5) was on the mound for Minnesota.

Iowa State and will be even tougher this time because the game marks the end of the series that started in 1898.

Phil Weatherby, 216-pound sophomore defensive tackle out with mononucleosis since the start of fall drills, rejoined the Oklahoma squad and took part in contact.

Reichardt Homers

'Jingles' Begins To Ring LA Bell

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rick Reichardt, baseball's Joe Namath, is nicknamed Jingles. But he's just beginning to ring the bell.

Reichardt, who received the biggest bonus in baseball history when he signed with California for an estimated $200,000 last year, hit the first homer of his major league career Wednesday night and also collected three other hits as the Angels split with Chicago.

The White Sox won the opener 8-1 but the Angels took the nightcap 2-1 in 14 innings.

The four hits lifted Reichardt's batting average to .321 since he was recalled from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League, where he continued his unspectacular but steady climb without being shoved into the spotlight as much as Namath.

Reeling off their seventh straight victory, the Minnesota Twins reduced their magic pennant-clinching number to six by edging Kansas City 7-5.

Any combination of Minnesota victories and losses by Baltimore totaling six will bring the Twins their first American League pennant.

The Orioles rode Boog Powell's fifth homer in six games to a 3-2 victory over Detroit, Mel Stottlemyre posted his 18th victory as the New York Yankees defeated Washington 5-3 and Cleveland snapped a four-game losing streak by belting Boston 8-4.

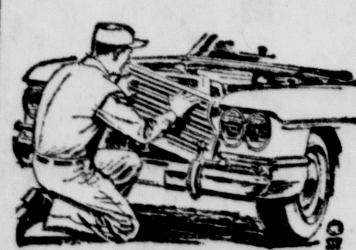

Trailing 5-1, the A's played catch up with the Twins on homers by Ken Harrelson and Larry Stahl before tying it in the eighth inning on a homer by Bill Bryan and Mike Hershberger's run-scoring single. But the Twins came through in the bottom of the inning with rookie pinch hitters Ted Uhlaender and Joe Nosske stroking run-producing singles.

Powell hit a two-run homer in the first inning and the Orioles never trailed. Willie Horton and Norm Cash connected for the Tigers, who were held to five hits by Dave McNally.

Stottlemyre checked the Senators on five hits while the Yankees broke a 2-2 tie in the fourth inning on Cleto Boyer's homer.

The Indians tied the score 4-4 on Lou Clinton's homer in the seventh inning, then won it with a four-run eighth built on Fred Whitfield's tie-breaking single and a three-run homer by Chuck Hinton.

Has Two Goals

Keth Assumes Top Sports Job At CMS

Earl Keth, a former coach and an All-America basketball State, Warrensburg, when there was only one All-America, has returned to his alma mater for the second time to do an even bigger job — as athletic director.

Despite the complicated planning and detail awaiting him, the 52-year-old Keth took over the position with two simple uncomplicated goals for his office:

—To improve the internal structure of an athletic department which has expanded rapidly in the past few years to keep pace with a phenomenal increase.

—To improve the external image of the college athletic program through public relations and public information.

The enrollment growth, from 3,600 in 1960 to an estimated 7,500 this year on the Warrensburg campus, left little time for attention to administrative structure even under a full-time athletic director, the position held by Dr. Carmen Ness from 1962 to 1964. When Ness resigned in the summer of

Earl Keth

1964, the position was held open for Keth with Dr. Hal Yinger, chairman of the Division of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, assuming the additional role of director along with his many other responsibilities.

Keth says that time has now been made available, with the doubling of the coaching staff during the past three years, not only to improve the department administratively, but also to improve the sports program across the board. He says that football, being the first sport of the school year, will receive first attention.

Other sports — cross country, gymnastics, wrestling and swimming — have been added in the past five years, and already the wrestling and swimming teams have established winning seasons.

Baseball is to become an MIAA conference sport this spring, with swimming and wrestling possibly being added the following year.

When Keth returned to campus late this summer he was certainly no stranger. A 6-5 star forward on the basketball team his first three years here in the late '30's, he won All-MIAA conference honors all three years and was named to Chuck Taylor's All-America in 1938.

He took his first teaching and coaching job at Stover High School in 1938 before finishing work on his B. S. degree at CMS in 1939. "That job was one of only two coaching jobs open in the State of Missouri at that time," he recalls. "Those were hard times, and coaches were not moving around much."

Finley said also he will have a 150-year-old rocking chair for Paige to sit in, which was provided by an A's fan.

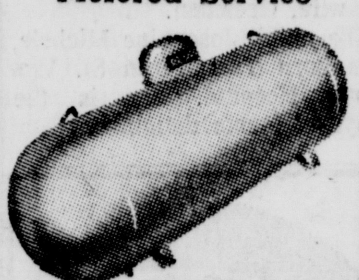

"And, in addition to that," Finley added, "he will have a special nurse in attendance and his own water boy."

Paige is scheduled to make his first start Saturday, Sept. 25 against the Boston Red Sox in Kansas City.

Before the game that night there will be an exhibition between former greats of the Kansas City Monarchs and Blues. Bullet Joe Rogan, Frank Duncan and Newt Allen are among those to appear from the old Monarchs.

Former Blues scheduled to appear include Joe Hauser, Glenn Wright, Eddie Pick and Joe Kuhel.

the bench any if he can help it. He professes not to be thinking about winning a second straight American League batting championship, but he betrays his true feelings by what he says and does. Oliva was forced out of Minnesota's 7-5 victory over Kansas City Wednesday night with a pulled muscle behind his right knee. As the Twins were winning their seventh in a row, reducing their number for clinching the pennant to six and holding their lead at a solid 10 games, Oliva lost two chances to bat. He departed in the fourth inning after beating out an infield hit. It was a hard shot which the pitcher deflected and the shortstop couldn't reach in time.

Fraser Changes Mind After Asking For Trade From Chiefs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Linebacker Jim Fraser, three-time American Football League punting champion, asked the Kansas City Chiefs to trade or release him Wednesday night, then changed his mind after talking to Coach Hank Stram. Fraser declined to give any details of his conversation with Stram, except to say that he had decided to stay with the club. Stram said only "no comment."

Fraser came to the Chiefs from Denver in an off-season trade for Abner Haynes. Fraser was used in only three defensive plays in the Chiefs' opener against Oakland Sunday.

ABWA Holds Luau

Prospective Members Feted On Parkhurst Lake Island

As the rose-gold sun, partly hidden by silver fingers of clouds reflected in the water of the lake Monday evening, Sept. 13, members of the Sedalia Chapter of the American Business Women's Association and their guests crossed the wooden bridge to King Kamehameha Island for a Hawaiian luau.

As they reached the island, they were welcomed in the true Hawaiian manner by W. R. Parkhurst, owner of the fabulous King Kamehameha Island, and his son, Richard Parkhurst who placed a lei around the neck of each guest and kissed them.

The brown frame building of Hawaiian architectural design with the stone floors covered with mats, is spacious with a huge brass chandelier suspended from the high peaked center. Windows on four sides look out over the water.

At the entrance just inside are replicas of native huts, one with the regular thatched roof, the other roofed of banana leaves. A beautiful waterfall, with water falling over rocks formed by volcanic lava on Hawaii, is on one side and here, too, a life-like mermaid rests.

In the center of the room Miss Mary Merritt, office manager for the Parkhurst Manufacturing Co., served Hawaiian punch from a large wooden bowl, in large wooden mugs. Miss Merritt, who is a past president of ABWA was hostess at the fall enrollment party of the association.

Wearing a mumu, sandals and with a lei of white baby orchids, she stood at the end of the rattan table on which was an enormous shell like bowl holding colorful fresh fruits including coconuts, grapes and long slices of watermelon. At the end were large wooden bowls of potato chips and dip.

Then began the steady pounding of the native drum by Tim Fine in the ancient Hawaiian costume.

Except for the light of the large Japanese lanterns of all shapes and colors which Parkhurst secured in Japan, there was no light in the building as the sun set completely and the dusk came on. Across the lake could be seen the light of the torch in the hands of the torchlighter John Schondelmeyer, as canoe, paddled by Dale Crawford, moved slowly across the water toward the island.

This was the ceremony of blessing for the luau before the Christian era and often the queen would ride in the canoe and chant the blessing. When the canoe reached the shore the torchlighter, in the precision step of the ancient ritual, lighted the torches then crossed the bridge, lighted the torches that encircled the island, and entered the building where he also lighted the large gas chandelier in the center and the torches on the sides of the black wrought iron stairways that lead to the two balconies. These boys, too, were in native costume, and were from Post 65, Boy Scouts, as were the parking attendants, Craig Cassing and Danny Paxton. The Post 65 advisor is Glen Riechol.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Grace Reed, after which guests formed two lines and with square wooden plates and wooden salad bowls served themselves from the long tables of a wide assortment of food, then found their places at the tables which were attractively decorated with small palm trees and Hawaiian dancing girls.

The dinner was followed by a short colored film taken by Parkhurst of the colorful Hawaiian dances by native men and women. Also, though he did not take these pictures, he showed pictures of the eruption of a volcano and the horror and destruction it left.

Mrs. Nathalia Poynter then took over the program of the evening first leading several games in the detective theme, with prizes going to Miss Gwendolyn Tuck, Mrs. Ethel Lyon and Mrs. Alice Tweeny. Following the same theme she then asked questions about the organization of several members of the association, among them Miss Margaret Bohon, president.

Mrs. Evelyn Rabourn then invited the prospective members into an area of the building where Mrs. Florence Barrett, national coordinator from National Headquarters, Kansas City, told of the American Business Women's Association.

Guests were: Florence Barrett, Kansas City, Peggy Dufur and Iris Dougherty, both of Independence; Alice Tweeny, Beulah Jones, Louise Benesick, Virginia Nightwine and Joy Little, all of Marshall; Mary G. Haffner, Carol J. Rabourn, Ethel L. Lyon, Mary Lee Cornell, Myrna Reynolds, Linda Allie, Evelyn McClanahan, Bonnie Burning, Rosie Sieving, Mabel Mahnen, Ellen Luchs, Mildred Donaldson, Helyn Johnson, Helen Woolery, Neva Lou Williams, Paulette Schwartz and Ann Logan.

There were 47 persons attended the party.

Parkhurst, who owns one of the largest collections of wood carvings in the United States, if not the largest, has acquired them from Hawaii, the Philippines, Formosa, Hong Kong and other places, and there is a difference in the carvings from the different places. The most exquisite is that of a woman, life size, carved from one piece of wood, and he will also have one of a man. These carvings are of various sizes and types and on the walls, too, are masks he has bought in those countries as well as native paintings on bark. Fish nets also ornament the walls and there are shells, star fish, and other unique things he has brought back from these places.

The rattan wicker furniture is unusual and of all types, with the graceful high-back chairs rounded at the top particularly attractive and comfortable. On one of the balconies is a play area for the children of the family with a rattan hobby horse, a baby's cradle and many other items.

The chandelier, which fits so perfectly in the oriental setting, was given the Broadway Presbyterian Church in 1862 and was there until 1902 when it was replaced by an electrical chandelier. Parkhurst, a member, found it in the attic of the church when it was torn down and put it up in his building.

Court Uses Tape Recorder First Time

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — A tape recorder has been used to record arguments before the New Jersey Supreme Court, the first time the court's proceedings have been transcribed on a regular basis.

The construction on the island began in 1963. The building was completed this spring, but Parkhurst's plans for the island are not complete. He will build shelter houses and make it into a recreational area to be enjoyed by his employees as well as his own family. He plans, too, a barge from which the Hawaiian luau can be served.
